

Bill soon to tackle bankruptcy in financial sector: Das

New Delhi, Feb 9: A Bill on addressing bankruptcy issues in the financial sector is ready and is likely to be introduced in Parliament soon, economic affairs secretary Shaktikanta Das said on Thursday.

While the insolvency and bankruptcy law that has been enacted deals with the corporate sector, LLPs and partnership firms, there is another world of financial firms like banks, the mutual funds or the non banking finance companies, he said.

"So as far as the financial sector entities are concerned, the finance minister has announced that the government will be introducing a Bill for resolution of financial firms... for which we have undertaken very extensive consultation the Bill is ready, and it is ready to be introduced," he said.

Outlining the focus of the Budget 2017-18 at an event organised in New Delhi by Assocham, Das said, one of its objectives was strong fiscal focus. "Finding that right balance is very important. You find that right balance... by targeting those sectors of the economy where you need to spend more and you target a certain level of debt to GDP ratio, that is the Government of India's borrowing or state's borrowing should be this much by this year," he said.

The FRBM committee headed by former revenue secretary N K Singh has recommended that the fiscal deficit of both the centre and states put together should be 60% in 2023. "So, although the committee had recommended 3% for the next three years, the government decided to adopt 3.2% and... is very much within the agenda of fiscal prudence because with 3.2% the government will be able to reach 60% debt to GDP ratio of the general government by 2023," he said.

Therefore, the government is very much within the fiscal path, he said but "you have utilised whatever opportunities are available within that fiscal path to spend more in sectors like infrastructure, health, education, rural development and agriculture".

On the H1B visa issue, Das said that so far India is not impacted by it despite apprehensions expressed in some quarters.

"H1B visa issue which is something that is still playing out... We have to really wait and watch. The government is interacting with the industry. So far as India is concerned, India has not been impacted so far. There are apprehensions being expressed in various quarters," Das said.

"There would be engagement between the government of India and the United States, we need to talk to them, we need to resolve issues. So far, nothing has happened that really has affected us. In any case, the government is in constant touch with the industry, whatever steps have to be taken, the government will take up these matters with the government of the United States," he said.

There is uncertainty with regard to economic policy which the developed countries are going to adopt, he said, adding, "We have to see how this Brexit negotiations play out, what kind of protectionist approach is taken, how much of openness of movement of goods, services and manpower is maintained in the negotiations between Britain and EU." PTI

EPFO set to enhance its stock market exposure by 5% in FY18

■ Current exposure at 10%; increase to be through ETF route

Surya Sarathi Ray
New Delhi, Feb 9

ENTHUSED by better returns from its investment in the equity exchange traded funds (ETFs), the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) is set to enhance its stock market exposure to 15% of its incremental deposits, or an estimated ₹19,500 crore, in FY18, from 10% now. The increase will be via the ETF route. Under the investment pattern notified in 2015, the EPFO can invest up to 15% of its incremental deposits in the stock market. However, trade unions' continuous opposition to "risky investments" forced it tread slowly.

The proposal to raise the exposure to 15% will be taken up for discussion in the next meeting of Central Board of Trustees (CBT), the EPFO's highest decision-making body, scheduled for next month, labour minister Bandaru Dattatreya said.

"In the first year (2015-16), we invested 5% and in the second year, 10% of the incremental deposits. Our total ETF corpus is now around ₹17,000 crore, with returns of 8.7%-8.8%, better than fetched as interest rates. After discussion with stakeholders, our ministry will take a final decision (on raising ETF exposure to 15%)," Dattatreya said.

The retirement fund body, which has a total corpus of around ₹8 lakh crore and an estimated annual incremental flow of ₹1.3

The proposal to increase the exposure will be taken up for discussion in the next meet of the Central Board of Trustees scheduled for next month lakh crore, had invested ₹6,500 crore in exchange-traded funds in 2015-16. The investment so far in the current fiscal is over ₹10,000 crore. The minister said the returns from the stock markets is better than what the EPFO is paying to its subscribers and current trends are also favourable.

Trade unions, however, are likely to raise a protest on the proposal as they earlier did. However, last year, the government went ahead with its decision without approval of the EPFO trustees.

Proposal to rename airports before Cabinet: Jayant Sinha

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 9 February

The government is considering a proposal to rename airports, a move that could ruffle feathers politically as many of the aerodromes are named after political leaders and known personalities.

"There is a proposal to rename airports... Cabinet is considering it," Minister of State for Civil Aviation Jayant Sinha said on Thursday on the sidelines of an Assocham event.

"Let's see what decision is taken going forward," he said in response to a query on whether there are plans to rename airports.

There are around 75 operational airports in the country and many of them are named after personalities, including political leaders from the Congress. Later in the evening, Sinha tweeted that the government is considering guidelines only for unnamed airports.

"Media is wrongly reporting that there is a proposal to rename airports. Govt is considering guidelines only for unnamed airports," he said in the tweet.

While Sinha did not divulge specifics, newspaper reports quoted him as saying that the government is considering a proposal to rename existing airports as well as future ones after cities and not personalities.
